Project identification and scoping

We understand the context: CPCS has completed mandates across Africa advising implementing bodies on regulation, readiness, capacity building, sector master plans, etc.

Offices on the ground across the region: We have local relationships and local context.

Feasibility

Multidisciplinary team: Our in-house engineers, economists, regulation experts, data scientists and lawyers provide holistic development services at better value than individual service providers.

Direct development experience: By developing its own projects, CPCS understands the unique challenges of development.

Development funding and partners

Platform developer for InfraCo Africa: CPCS has access to development equity that can reduce sponsor risk.

Access to grants and technical assistance: CPCS has direct experience sourcing grant funding and co-development partners for our own projects and those of our clients.

Financing and structuring

Closed over $10 billion of transactions in Africa: From the privatization of Nigeria's electricity sector to ports across Africa, CPCS has proven experience closing transactions.
